Celebration To Begin Monday

Queen Contest Will Open 2nd Old Home Week Fete

EAST Liverpool will lay out the welcome mat Monday for thousands of visitors from the tri-state area expected for six days and nights of the second annual Old Home Week celebration.

The event-studded program has these free daily attractions:

Crowning of a young beauty as homecoming queen; a big parade of musical and marching units; "kiddies day" and selection of a junior bathing beauty; an amateur talent show, a baton-twirling contest and an "orange crate derby" for boys' homemade coaster cars.

With seven local organizations co-operating, the event is sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and its civilian affiliate, F. O. P. Associates.

MANY BUSINESS DISTRICT store fronts are dressed in bunting and banners for the celebration, that continues through Saturday.

Most of the special events will center on a platform on the celebration midway on East Second St., where Harry's Greater Shows will set up a street fair of rides and concessions. Ten local organizations also will operate concessions.

In addition to the special competitive events, there will be registration of visitors daily in charge of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. It will award six prizes, all locally-manufactured pottery.

Other co-operating organizations are the Quota Club, Business & Professional Women's Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Columbus, Grant St. Civic League, and Nu Phi Mu Sorority.

The homecoming queen, who will rule throughout the celebration, will be chosen Monday night on the midway platform after contestants are paraded through the business district at 7:30 in open cars.

Twelve girls have entered so far.

—:—

ARRANGED BY THE Quota Club, the competition is open to single girls 17 through 25 from throughout the tri-state area. The queen will be presented with a loving cup, plus gifts from Quota members and merchants.

Judges will be five club presidents: William Cooper of Rotary, D. J. Stonesifer of Kiwanis, Richard A. Walker of Lions, Bert Wakefield of Exchange, and Harry McConnville of the Blue & White Nonpareil.

After the coronation, Dick Golden's 15-piece orchestra will play for a free street dance, sponsored by the Quota Club and American Federation of Musicians' Local 172.

The musicians will be paid from the music performance trust fund of the A. F. M. The queen and her court will be guests of honor. There will be round and square dancing from 9 to 12.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S highlight will be a parade that will include at least 15 musical units, eight marching groups and a long list of fire equipment, competing for $750 in cash prizes.

Formed on lower Broadway and nearby parts of Walnut and East Fourth Sts., the parade will move at 7:30, traveling north on Broadway to Fifth St., west on Fifth St. to Monroe St., north on Monroe St. to Sixth St. and east on Sixth St. to Broadway, where it will disband.

Judges will be Ralph E. Johnston, grade school instrumental music director; Chief F. M. Whitmore, local Navy recruiter, and John E. Weltzel, new High School instrumental music director.

Bands are the boys and girls units from the local High School, Salvation Army, Fairmount Children's Home at Alliance, East Palestine American Legion, Imperial (Pa.) Fire Department and Mt. Oliver (Pa.) Fire Department.

TOPFLIGHT PENNSYLVANIA drum and bugle corps entered include the Broughton Girls, the

Reds Continue Retreats; Allies Land Upon Island; B-29's Lash North Korea

Key Factory Near Russian Soil Pounded

90 Super-Forts Rain 800 Tons Of Bombs On Enemy Centers

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (AP)—American B-29's soared far to the north today to pound the port of Chongjin, its rail yards and the important Mitsubishi iron works—almost within sight of Soviet Russian territory.

Balls of fire shot from the factory and smoke columns towered nearly a mile. The factory is one of the most modern metal works in Asia.

In all, 90 super-forts hammered military and industrial targets in North Korea with nearly 800 tons of bombs. Other targets were Hamhung, 130 miles north of the 38th Parallel, and key bridges.

The strike was the second-largest mass B-29 raid of the war.

More than 60 B-29's roared over Chongjin, less than 60 miles from the Soviet border. They plunged more than 550 tons of bombs at key targets there. The Air Force reported excellent results.

(The Korean Communists' official radio at Pyongyang broadcast an invitation to the International Red Cross to investigate "the tremendous damage inflicted on the people and housings by American aerial bombings".)

The Fifth Air Force reported its fighter planes set a new record for the war with 350 strikes Friday, mainly against ground troops. The Fifth Air Force flew 550 sorties of all types, equaling the previous single day's record for this war.

Air headquarters said pilots bombed, rocketed or strafed 323 tanks.

'Bombs Are Coming!' 10 Red Cities Warned

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 19 (AP)—North Korea has been served a grim warning that 10 major cities, including the capital of Pyongyang, are about to be bombed.

It came in the form of leaflets urging civilians in those cities to flee to the country to escape the mounting wrath of Allied air power.

SIDEWALK SORROW. Various emotions were reflected in the faces of this group watching a battalion of Marines marching along Fifth Ave. near 39th St. in New York City.

Enemy Force Still Poised Near Taegu

American Planes Strafe Foes As They Flee Across River

By The Associated Press

The threat to Taegu, strategic United Nations rail center, was eased today as North Korean Communists retreated on two fronts north and southwest of the city.

Red resistance was described as light or moderate, but a spokesman at General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said that the Reds have three to five divisions, possibly 50,000 men, still poised north of Taegu, abandoned this week as the South Korean provisional capital.

South Koreans meanwhile, made a surprise landing—the first Allied action of its kind in the war—on Tokchock Island, 35 miles southwest of Inchon, port of Seoul. A Navy spokesman said Tokchock may have been a Red center for water-borne reinforcements.

In the critical area north of Taegu, U. S. and Korean troops drove back the enemy toward Kumwha. Their counter-attack against huge Red forces that threatened Taegu Thursday has cost the invaders two and a half miles in three days of bitter fighting.

The Reds also gave ground in the Changnyong sector southwest of Taegu.

U.S. Marines and infantrymen advanced under the cover of artillery fire directed at the enemy-held west bank of the Naktong River. The Reds appear to have given up most of their Changnyong bridgehead.

This was the scene of the fiercest fighting. American planes strafed and rocketed the Communists as they tried to flee back across the river. The onslaught from rockets, cannon fire and jellied gasoline bombs pulverized the Red Fourth Division. Major General John H. Church said his men are out to "destroy that division entirely".

A spokesman at General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the enemy lost 2,200 men Thursday along the whole perimeter—the biggest single day's bag for United Nations forces.

The Communists, however, appear to be regrouping massive forces in the area between Kunwi and Waegwan for another hammer blow at Taegu. Three North Korean divisions—the Third, 13th and 15th—are assembled in this sector. There is a possibility they are supported by the First and Second Red divisions.

On the south front the Communists appear to be building up strength in the Chinju area.

The full significance of the South Korean landing in Tokchock island was not explained.

North Korea Losses Estimated At 50,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Army estimated today that the North Korean Communists have lost 50,000 men so far.

At the same time, an Army spokesman estimated South Korean losses up to three weeks ago totaled 37,000.

The spokesman said roundups of American casualties in Korea will not be announced hereafter until they have no value to the enemy. The last roundup was issued about two weeks ago.

The total at that time (on Aug. 7) was 2,616 for the American Army.

7 Billion More In Taxes Eyed In Second Bill

Levies Are Expected To Soar To Record 50 Billion In 1951

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The nation can expect federal taxes next year to reach a record high, near $50,000,000,000 — an over-all increase of about $12,000,000,000, Senator George (D) of Georgia says.

Mr. George, whose position as chairman of the Senate finance committee makes him an authority, said Congress will take up in January a "second installment" tax bill, to collect about $7,000,000,000 more revenue to help pay for the fighting in Korea and to bolster the nation's defenses.

He told newsmen yesterday the second bill will include an excess profits tax on corporations, effective Jan. 1, 1951, to yield between $4,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 a year.

The $7,000,000,000 measure will be piled on top of the $5,000,000,000 tax increase approved unanimously by the Senate finance committee Thursday. Both Senate and House are expected to O.K. the pending bill. The two bills would boost the annual tax take far above the $44,800,000,000 record set in 1945, the last year of World War II.

The Georgian said the bill probably will provide for:

►An excess profits levy on corporations, with possibly a similar levy on war-swollen earnings of individuals.

►"Appropriatedly adjusted" taxes on co-ops, mutual organizations and building and loan associations.

► Plugging of more tax law loopholes to prevent some individuals and business from escaping taxation.

►A general overhauling of tax statutes to remove inequities in the present system.

Mr George does not expect the second bill to raise further the taxes on normal income of individuals and corporations.

Yank Gets Draft Call From Two Armies

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 19 (AP)—Robert Vidoni 20, has just received a letter indicating there's a great demand for his services.

The letter is from a cousin in Italy who says young Vidoni has been ordered to report for duty with the Italian army.

When he was six months old, Vidoni was brought to the United States by his immigrant parents.

A few days ago his Hagerstown draft board notified him he has been classified 1-A—U.S. style.

Carl L. Stacey New Chairman Of Election Board

CARL L. STACEY
Democrat heads voting board.

Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana, former county clerk of courts, Friday night was elected chairman of the Columbiana County Election Board to succeed the late Merven L. Clendenning of Wellsville.

A Democrat, Mr. Stacey was named at a meeting at City Hall in which the board also laid plans for the November general election. He will fill Mr. Clendenning's unexpired two-year term.

Mr. Stacey has been a member of the board since 1944, when he was appointed to replace M. K. Duty of Wellsville, who served out the unexpired term of the late W. O. Wallace of Columbiana. Mr Stacey is in the second year of his second four-year tenure.

Residing at 245 South Main St., the new chairman is employed in the shipping and receiving department of the F. C. Russell Co. at Columbiana. Active in politics all his life, he served as a Fairfield township trustee and was township clerk for many years. He is married and has four children. Mr. Stacey was clerk of courts from 1936 to 1940.

Attorney Louis Tobin qualified last night as a new member of the board, filling the vacancy created by Mr. Clendenning's recent death. The other members are C. A. Houlette of Fairfield township, and A. L. Forney of East Palestine.

Business Area Hit By Break In Water Line

City Crew Explores Broadway-Sixth St. District For Source

Water poured through the brick pavement on Broadway at East Sixth St. today, indicating a major main break, and line crews shut off service to the nearby business district as they started exploring to find the trouble.

The block between East Sixth and Fifth Sts. was flooded shortly after the gushing water was discovered around 9 a. m.

The Water Department said the street near the intersection is underlaid by three big lines—a 10-inch, an 8-inch and a 6-inch—and that there might be a break in any one of the three. Or the water may have come from a broken valve, the department said.

Shortly after the break was discovered the crew opened a fire hydrant at Sixth and Broadway to relieve pressure on the lines nearby after valves were closed to shut off water at the site of the break. Meanwhile, traffic was detoured off the section on

Farm Search Proves Futile

Clark Now Convinced Woman Left County

A three-hour search of the Emil Pawek farm in Center and Wayne townships by a party of 18 men Friday afternoon failed to yield a clue to the disappearance of his ex-wife.

Three planes from the Stover-Leslie Field aided Sheriff Howard Clark's ground party in the hunt for Mrs. Bertha Pawek, 48, of Cleveland, who has been missing since July 16.

The sheriff said the fruitless search confirmed his belief that Mrs. Pawek no longer is in the county.

Spaced about 30 yards apart, the searchers combed the 520-acre farm, hunting through dense underbrush and gullies and over barren fields and spoil banks for a trace of the missing woman.

Mrs. Pawek was seen last by Mr. and Mrs. George Hiner, who had volunteered to take her to the farm. She left the car within 200 yards of one of the homes on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiner still have her coat and purse, which contains a return bus ticket to Cleveland.

Chester Kennedy, Francis Clunk and John Carroll piloted the planes.

Loss In Thousands As Hail Batters Crops

CANTON, Aug. 19 (Special)—Hail caused damage running high into the thousands of dollars late Friday in the famous Hartville mucklands, most productive vegetable spot in Ohio.

Lettuce, spinach and endive were shredded and tops were knocked off acres of green onions ready for the city markets. Tomato crops were ruined on surrounding upland farms.

Communists' Belgian Chief Shot To Death

Red Paper Accuses Pro-Leopoldists In Slaying Of Lahaut

LIEGE, Belgium, Aug. 19 (AP)—Julien Lahaut, head of the Belgian Communist party, was shot to death at his home last night and the official party newspaper charged today pro-Leopoldists were responsible.

His wife was a witness to the killing. He was riddled by three bullets fired by one of two gunmen who drove up to the Lahaut home in a Liege suburb about 9:30 p. m.

Mrs. Lahaut said the men, appearing about 20 years old, rang the bell and asked to speak to her husband.

"I am Mr. Hendricks," said one. "I want to speak to Mr. Lahaut."

Mr. Lahaut, 66-year-old leader of Belgian's estimated 100,000 Communists, came out of the kitchen. One of the gunmen fired three times. Each bullet found its mark and Mr. Lahaut fell with two wounds in his head and one in his body. Police said the bullets were fired from either a revolver or a sub-machine gun.

Mr. Lahaut, a veteran member of parliament, was bitterly anti-monarchist. He represented industrial Liege, one of the storm centers in the recent strife over the issue of King Leopold's return from exile.

There was no official announcement as to the identity of the assassins.

Mr. Lahaut was popular among Belgian workers.

More Of Reserves Will Be Called Up By Army, Marines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—Both the Marine Corps and the Army are calling up additional reserves.

The Marine Corps says all enlisted men of sergeant's rank or below in its volunteer reserve will be called to active duty. Both aviation and ground forces are affected.

This follows plans announced Aug. 8. The Marines said then all their 80,000 volunteer reserves would be summoned to active duty. The volunteer reserve comprises men who are not members of organized reserve units or the fleet Marine Corps reserve.

The corps said that within a few days it will start sending recall orders to male officers in the grades of captain and lieutenant in the ground forces. It said most will report in September and October.

The Marine Corps said no officer pilots of the volunteer reserve are being called now, but that approximately 300-non-pilot officers with aviation specialities will be summoned. These, too, will be mostly captains and lieutenants.

The corps said its present policy is not to order any Marine, active or reserve, into combat if he is under 18.

The Army's new announcement covered an additional 570 reserve captains and lieutenants of the Engineer Corps.

New Bid Made For Rail Peace

Steelman To Confer With Union, Carriers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The White House today called a joint meeting of union and management representatives for 3 p. m. in another effort to head off the threatened nation-wide rail strike.

John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, has been trying to find a common ground for a settlement.

This will be the first joint meeting in several days on the demands of trainmen and conductors for a 40-hour week with no reduction in pay now received for 48 hours. Conferences ended in a deadlock last week, but Mr. Steelman has talked to each side separately since then.

A series of five-day "token" strikes has been scheduled for next week.

This morning Mr. Steelman met first with the carriers' committee. Later he arranged to confer with the unions' negotiating committee before getting the two sides together.

Japan Places Self Squarely In U.N. Camp

'Defense Measure,' White Paper Says Of Nipponese Action

TOKYO, Aug. 19 (AP) — The Japanese government today issued a 3,800-word "white paper" placing Nippon squarely behind the United Nations in the Korean war as "a measure for our own self-defense".

It was the government's first formal statement of policy since the outbreak of hostilities and agrees with past statements of political and industrial leaders.

Japan is the major forward staging area for the U. N. Korean effort.

The lengthy white paper did not specifically state how Japan proposes to assist, but said:

"To co-operate with the Democracies and assist in strengthening their unity should be considered as nothing less than a measure of our own self-defense.

The paper also placed Japan in the western democracies' camp in the world struggle.

"The only thing capable of defending us from the brute force of communism is the strength which comes from the unity of the democracies," it said.

The white paper called on all Japanese to help prevent acts of sabotage.

For the Japanese who are impressed by power, it said:

"The United States once roused will prove its might."

Diggers Rescue Boy, 3, Wedged In Well Shaft

FAIRMONT, Minn., Aug. 19 (AP)—A three-year-old boy fell into a 10-foot well shaft yesterday and became tightly wedged in the tapering hole.

A dozen men dug frantically for two hours to rescue the lad, trapped with his hands over his head and his nose pressed against the wall of his prison. Oxygen was pumped down to him.

The shaft was about a foot across at the top and narrowed to only a few inches at the bottom.

The rescuers dug a second hole near by, 15 feet across and about 9½ feet deep. When they reached that depth, they tunneled across to little Jimmie Zarling, who lives at near-by Imogene. He was hospitalized for a checkup.

Jimmie fell into the hole as he and a playmate pushed aside a box covering the opening.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—Bernard M. Baruch, the adviser to presidents, is 80 today.

Semi-Annual Bargain Event

City's Stores To Hold Dollar Day On Thursday

East Liverpool merchants are preparing for the second 1950 Dollar Day Thursday, timing the semi-annual value sharing event perfectly for tri-state area mothers shopping for back-to-school clothes for youngsters and fall outfits for the rest of the family.

The sales event has been a regular in East Liverpool's mercantile history for 30 years, except for a brief suspension during the shortage-ridden days of World War II.

It is arranged by the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce. Participating merchants will offer virtually every type of merchandise—shoes and clothing for every member of the family, furniture and appliances, hardware, jewelry and other lines.

Arrangements are in charge of the organization's advertising committee, headed by W. O. Bloor.

Participating stores will be marked with big black-on-yellow window signs, a change from the familiar black-on-pink used the last few years. The signs were to be distributed today.

Meanwhile, the division has made arrangements for a battery of telephone operators to call every home in the rural districts outside of East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville to remind housewives of the sale date.

Dollar Day is held twice yearly, in February and August.

Hail Hits Salineville

SALINEVILLE, Aug. 19—Wind and hail the size of small marbles struck this area about 3 p. m. Friday but damage was limited to a few branches blown from trees and flattened gardens.

Dial Telephone Switch Held Up By High Costs

Manager Tells Lions Conversion To Await 'Reasonable Figure'

The high postwar cost of building and equipment has delayed conversion of the East Liverpool telephone exchange to dial operation, the Lions Club was told Friday noon.

T. Fred Edwards, commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here, explained the cost hurdle at the club's weekly luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel, pointing out that the capital outlay would have to be passed along to customers in the form of higher rates.

He indicated the company will hold back on the conversion "until it can be done at a more reasonable figure to protect both the company and its customers".

He pointed out that East Liverpool has the largest manually-operated exchange remaining in Ohio, taking the "title" last April when Zanesville switched to dial phones.

"We wanted to switch to dial operation in 1945, but we didn't," the commercial manager said. "When we do, it will be predicated on the cost of building and the capital investment, plus the fact that dial equipment still is scarce".

"Any businessman knows that the thing you could do five years ago with a half-million dollars would take a million now," he added.

Explaining the operation of the exchange, Mr. Edwards said it employes 180 operators who handle a daily average of 68,000 to 70,000 local calls, plus 2,800 to 3,000 toll calls.

It services 16,000 phones, representing 13,000 customers in Chester, Newell, East Liverpool and Smiths Ferry, generally becoming heaviest on Saturday nights, Mr. Edwards said.

He added that the exchange has 30 men and two women in its plant force, plus four construction crews totaling about 30 that work on a floating basis throughout the area.

After his talk, the club toured the exchange building on Market St. Mr. Edwards was introduced by John Ridder, program chairman.

Richard Walker, president, announced next Friday's meeting has been canceled because of the annual picnic for members and their families Wednesday afternoon at East Palestine Municipal Park.

The outing opens at 2 and dinner is scheduled at 6. The picnic committee, headed by I. C. Thomas, will meet Monday noon at the hotel to make final arrangements.

Mr. Walker also announced tickets are available for a Sept. 19 performance of the Ice Capades, an ice show the club plans to attend at Pittsburgh.

2 Attorneys Named Restaurant Receivers

Two attorneys today were named receivers for the closed Goldenrod Restaurant.

Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw signed a journal entry naming Attorney John B. McDonald and Attorney William S. Foulks to act in the business of the Diamond eating place to protect the interests of their clients and other creditors.

Judge Brokaw ordered the owner, Michael Angelos of Pittsburgh, to appear in court for a hearing Thursday at 1 p. m. The restaurant has been closed since late July, under attachments following the filing of a number of civil actions for money. The application for receivership, which means the business will be sold or continue to operate under the receivers, was filed earlier this week by one creditor.

$363,500 Low Bid On Lisbon School Project

Board Studies Offers For New Buildings As Prelude For Awards

LISBON, Aug. 19 (Special)—The Board of Education opened bids Friday night covering the construction of two new elementary buildings and are studying the offers before awarding contracts.

Three bids were received on the general work, each company giving a figure on each school and a combined bid.

The lowest was from the E. J. Salvidge Co. of Youngstown. It bid $239,500 for the Lincoln building replacement and $124,000 for the building to replace burned McKinley. The combined bid was $363,500.

The Nellis Construction Co. of East Liverpool was next lowest with a combined bid of $374,973—$239,385 for Lincoln and $142,746 for McKinley.

The G. F. Howard Construction Co. of Youngstown was high with a combined bid of $455,053. It bid $300,400 for Lincoln and $166,723 for McKinley.

H. Daugherty & Sons, Inc., of Youngstown bid $37,900 for heating at the Lincoln building, and separated its bid for McKinley—$14,130 for plumbing and $17,350 for heating.

The Salem Plumbing and Heating Co. bid only on McKinley. Its $11,493 for plumbing was low, but the $20,837 it asked for heating was above Daugherty's figure.

The lowest bid on plumbing and heating for both buildings came from the Commercial Pipe Co. of Cleveland. Its combined figure of $91,927 included $58,961 for Lincoln and $32,766 for McKinley.

The Blumberg Plumbing & Heating Co. of Youngstown had a combined bid of $95,000.

McCullough Electric Co. of Salem had the low bid for electrical work. Its combined offer was $22,534—$13,020 for Lincoln and $9,541 for McKinley.

Next was the Thompson Electric Co. of Lisbon with $26,966, including $17,769 for Lincoln and $9,697 for McKinley.

'Schools' Set For County's Election Staff

Precinct Crews Will Be Instructed In Use Of Office-Type Ballot

The County Election Board agreed Friday night to conduct schools of instruction early in October in East Liverpool, Lisbon and Columbiana to familiarize precinct crews with the new "office-type" ballot that Ohio will use for the first time at the Nov. 7 election.

The schools were set tentatively at Oct. 2, 3 and 4, but specific dates were not chosen for each community pending further arrangements, the board said.

The Election Board also made arrangements for registration in each of East Liverpool's 27 precincts on Sept. 27, final day for enrollment for the fall election.

It approved the appointment of two persons from each precinct staff to handle the registration. They will be of opposite political faiths. Contracts have been signed for locations for the registration points in each precinct, the board said.

The board confirmed appointment of 726 judges and clerks to staff the county's 121 precincts for the November election and the 1951 primaries.

In the schools election workers also will be given instruction on assembling, tabulating and reporting returns and other procedure. Adopted by a constitutional amendment in 1949, the new ballot form lists all candidates in a single column, with their party designations underneath.

It is a change from the former party-column ticket, in which the candidates' names were listed side by side under separate headings. Straight-ticket voting with a single X is eliminated under the new ballot form, as the voter must mark the name of each person for whom he wishes to vote.

The Election Board also adopted for use in Columbiana county the procedure outlined in an opinion from Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy for aid for illiterate—but otherwise qualified—voters.

Passed along by Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeney, the opinion says boards may follow the same procedure the law allows for aid to a physically-disabled voter. That section permits the elector to take a near relative into the booth to mark his ballot. Otherwise, the voter can request help from the precinct crew—judges of opposite political parties.

The law says the presiding judge in the precinct may require the disabled or illiterate voter to supply information under oath. The ruling was prompted by an inquiry to Columbus from Meigs county.

Two Toledo Men Killed When Plane Wrecks

WAUSEON, O., Aug. 19 (AP)—Two Toledo men were killed early today when their plane crashed in a corn field near Delta in northwestern Ohio.

The Highway Patrol post at Perrysburg identified the victims as Charles C. Knowlson, 27, and his brother, Theodore M. Knowlson, 22.

Venders Face Big Task

Coin Machine 'Smokes' Will Cost 22 Per Pack

Don't look now, but more of your money's going up in smoke.

Operators of coin cigarette machines are changing them to handle packs at the new record price of 22 cents.

The owners are spending $15 to $25 to convert each machine to take quarters instead of two dimes.

You'll put in your two-bits and get three coppers in the side of the pack as your change.

The biggest local operator, the East Liverpool Cigarette Service, which has over 200 machines in this city, East Palestine, Columbiana, Lisbon, Newell and Chester, started converting this week, planning to complete each city before going to others.

Its office said the conversion will cost about $15 per machine. Present machines have been returning a pack of smokes for two dimes, and no change, of course. The concern can change about six machines daily, so it will take weeks before the new price hits everybody.

The local concern notified business places that have their machines that the increase would be the first in several years, although the price had been raised three times at the wholesale level.

The concern said it would be unable to absorb further increases, especially in view of the higher costs of service and equipment.

Cigarettes have been 20 cents in the machines for four or five years.

Dealers debated an increase to 23 cents at a meeting this week but agreed on the 22-cent tag as more equitable for consumer and operator, it was said.

Officials of the National Cigarette Service at Steubenville, which has many machines in this district, with 400 in all in the Ohio Valley, pointed out it would be impossible to vend cigarettes for 21 cents, as the side of a pack won't hold 4 pennies, and if two are inserted on each side, then the packs are too wide and stick in the machine.

They have a foot-treadle machine that handles about 10 packs at a time, slitting the cellophane at the side and inserting the coppers. That's another reason for the delay in boosting the price—all the packs in the machines have to be returned for the adjustment in pennies.

A couple of small operators, with a dozen or so machines in use, are sticking to the 20-cent price for the present, as they can't afford to make the expensive change in the devices, it was said.

Broadway between East Fifth and Sixth Sts.

The flood on the street subsided after the valves were closed and the hydrant was opened. The department said the turnoff affected East Sixth St. between Washington and Walnut Sts. and Broadway from East Fifth to East Sixth.

Manholes were flooded and the Street Department moved in a portable gasoline pump to get out the water. Shortly before noon police said the detour around the break had been ended.

Band Due Back Today From Barberton Camp

The East Liverpool High School Varsity Band was due back today from the annual week-long band stay at Camp Chiblaboos, near Barberton.

The 65-member marching unit, which played at the national "Soap Box" derby at Akron Sunday, was accompanied by John E. Weitzel of Aliquippa, new band director; Delbert Smoke of Alliance, former director; Bert A. Dawson, High School dean of boys, and six adult councilors.

Chester, Newell Send 8 Men For Draft Exams

Chester, Newell and New Cumberland each sent four men to Weirton this morning to join a contingent of 40 from the Hancock-Brooke Draft Board for preinduction physicals today in Pittsburgh.

It is the second group out of 120 called for physicals in August.

The remaining 40 will be examined Tuesday. That contingent will include three from New Cumberland and four from Newell.

Football Mothers Elect At Wellsville

Mrs. Flora Mundy was elected president of the Wellsville Football Mothers Wednesday night in the High School.

Others chosen were: Mrs. Clarence Peters, vice-president, and Mrs. O. P. McAdoo, secretary-treasurer. Retiring officers are Mrs. Peters, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Donaldson, secretary, and Mrs. Lena LaScola, treasurer.

Coach Charles Sell gave a brief talk and fund-raising projects were discussed.

The club will meet Aug. 30.

Midland Home Blaze Causes $500 Damage

Fire of undetermined origin caused damage estimated at $500 in the two-story frame house of Robert Corratto, 67 Midland Ave., Midland, Friday at 1 p. m.

The blaze was confined to the second-floor bedroom, Fire Chief Edward Barrett said. Damage occurred to furniture and contents of the clothes press.

Volunteer firemen quelled the blaze.

Crowds Seen For 2nd Old Home Week

Celebration To Begin Monday For 6 Nights With Variety Of Fun

Lyndora Girls and the Sharpsburg Cadets. Others are the Navy Belles of Steubenville, Lisbon American Legion and corps from Hanoverton and Mingo Junction. Lyndora also has entered a junior drum and bugle outfit.

Men's marching units will include the drill and rifle team of American Legion Post 70 at Wellsville, men of East Liverpool's National Guard unit—Company C, 137th Heavy Tank Battalion—American Legion Post 374, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 128 at Rochester, Pa. and its women's auxiliary.

Women's units are the auxiliary of the Hanoverton American Legion Post, and the Women of the Moose Lodges of East Liverpool and East Palestine.

Fire equipment will include the Wellsville Department's emergency car, a Malvern truck, a Flushing truck and squad car and a Glenwillard (Pa.) truck.

THERE ARE THREE top prizes of $75 in the parade, for the best band, best senior drum and bugle corps and best girls' drum and bugle corps. The second and third prizes are $50 and $15 in each class.

Other awards are: $50, $25 and $15 in the junior drum and bugle corps class, $15 for the marching unit with the most in uniform, $24 for the unit coming the greatest distance, $25 for the best-appearing fire truck, $25 for the best squad car and $10 for each musical unit of 20 or more that does not win another prize.

Wednesday will be highlighted with an afternoon "Kiddies Day" program of games, races and contests, starting at 1 at the Second St. Playground. It will be staged by the B. & P. W. in co-operation with Merill Hall, playground director.

The club also will stage the junior bathing beauty contest at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday on the midway platform.

There will be a big array of prizes in all age groups for the afternoon program's winners. The bathing beauty contest will be staged in two age groups—3 through 6 and 7 through 10.

WINNERS IN EACH age group will be given loving cups and runnersup each will receive a locket and chain. Every contestant will be given a printed certificate. The children will appear on the platform in bathing suits or play clothes. Judges will be Mrs. Sam Caplan, Mrs. John A. Monasky and Mrs. Marion Horger. Thirty-one had entered Friday. The deadline is tonight.

Mrs. Helen Russell Haynes is general chairman. Committeewomen are Mrs. Mae Martt, Miss Gladys DeBolt, Miss Stella McFadden, Mrs. Mary McCullough, Mrs. Florence Howell, Mrs. Alice Baird and Miss Agnes Cleland.

The Thursday night feature, also scheduled for 7:30 on the midway platform, will be an amateur talent contest arranged by Jaycees. Fifteen entries already are on file, listing performers from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester and Newell. The acts include several vocal soloists and quartets, a tumbling act, a harmonica trio an accordionist and a guitarist.

There will be four cash prizes totaling $55—$25, $15, $10 and $5. Judges have not been selected.

THE BATON-TWIRLING contest is the Friday night feature. It also is scheduled at 7:30 on the midway. Boys and girls in two age groups will compete for a $25 bond as first prize in each division and a $10 baton for second place.

Arranged by Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, the contest is open to youngsters 10 through 14 and 15 through 19. There have been no entries so far, however.

The "orange crate derby", one of the top attractions in the 1949 celebration, is expected to draw a record field of entries. Arranged by the Grant St. Civic League, it will be run off on lower Bradshaw Ave. Age groups are 11-13 and 14-15, both inclusive.

Nine entries have been received and the field is expected to total 16 or 17 by the deadline Monday night. The course starts at Riley Ave. and ends at Ravine St., a distance of about 700 feet.

The tentative judging panel is comprised of Mayor Arnold W. Devon, Police Chief L. J. Wise and Assistant Fire Chief Clem Dawson.

EACH ENTRY WILL be given a jersey carrying the words "Orange Crate Derby" and a picture of a racer.

The boys will race in two-car heats, with eliminations scheduled first in the lower age bracket. Starting ramps will be used for the first time this year to get cars off evenly.

Winners in each age group will receive a 24-piece tool kit. The grand champion will be given a camera and carrying case, slide projector and case and a 30-x-40 inch tripod screen.

Six months' work has gone into preparation of the program by Old Home Week, Inc., a group comprised of F.O.P. and F.O.P.A. members.

City Auditor E. Allan McKeever is chairman, Patrolman Paul Lemal, vice-chairman; Patrolman Mike Winters Jr., treasurer, and Lieutenant George B. Kidd, secretary.

Prizes in registration will go to the oldest person, the one traveling the greatest distance, the largest family, couple married the longest time and the person who returns to East Liverpool after the longest absence.

They'll Be Busy At County Fair

Junior Leaders 'Sparkplug' For 4-H

MAKE OWN CLOTHES. June Vaness, 16, of Calcutta (right), gets some help in filting a pattern from Leona Azdell, 17, a member of the Columbiana County Junior Leadership Club and her neighbor. Both are members of the Calcutta Busy Girls' 4-H Club and June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Vaness, has been in 4-H work eight years.

THERE'S a busy time ahead for the Columbiana County Junior Leadership Club — backbone of the area's 4-H movement—as the members get set to help with exhibits for the County Fair Sept. 13-16 at Lisbon.

Besides lending a hand with project displays for the Wide Awakes, the Golden Girls, or whatever their particular 4-H Club may be, members plan to see to it that the Junior Leadership Club has its own eye-catching exhibit.

These 4-H leaders of the future hail from all sections of the county and, in most cases, are junior leaders in their own clubs.

ONCE A MONTH, they gather in the Lisbon Grange Hall to exchange club idbas, hear talks and watch demonstrations by experts and hold the funfests following their meetings that are part of the 4-H program to help develop well-rounded personalities. A picnic usually is slated for the July meeting.

A typical junior leader is dark-haired, vivacious Leona Azdell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Azdell of Calcutta, and the club's president.

Leona more than meets the clubs two requirements of "15 years of age or over and at least three years of 4-H work". At 17, she has a nine-year record. Besides her 4-H pins and ribbons denoting that term of membership, she has pins acknowledging her as twice winner of the county style revue and a gold medal awarded her last year for special achievement in sewing.

—:—

NINE IS THE minimum age for 4-H membership, but Leona's eagerness got her in a full year early and it is paying big dividends. By making lots of her own clothes, she gives quite a lift to her budget.

Her project this year in the Calcutta Busy Girls' 4-H Club—and the outfit she wore in Wednesday's county 4-H Selection Day — was a complete summer costume.

Leona is looking forward to having a club of her own some day like the present advisers of the Busy Girls, Misses Julia Jo Barnhart and Elsie McDevitt, both ex-4-H members. In the meantime, the 1950 graduate of East Liverpool High School thinks she'd like to attend college — maybe next year.

SHE IS ONLY one of 40 junior leaders scattered about the county wearing the regulation white wool cardigan with a green four-leaf clover and the lettering "Columbiana County Junior Leadership Club".

Although the organization has been in existence only since January, 1949, it has sponsored two public dances — one at Midway and the other at Guilford Grange Hall—besides its round of strictly club activities. But more important, it assures a steady stream of well-trained future 4-H leaders.

MR. AND MRS. Ralph Cook of Leetonia are advisers, with Harry Smith, associate county farm extension agent, also providing supervision.

Other club officers are Richard Sitler of Salem R. D. 3, vice-president; his sister, Lexa Sitler, secretary; Harold King of Hanoverton R. D. 1, treasurer, and Bill Rymer of New Waterford R. D. 1, devotional leader.

Spider Covered With Young Found By Glenmoor Man

John Taylor's huge spider doesn't lack for company in its jar on the WLIO manager's desk.

When he captured the big creature in his front yard at Glenmoor, he found it was covered with hundreds of tiny young spiders.

He gathered up Mamma and her multitudinous brood in the jar and now he's trying to find out what kind it is.

He said it has a body about 2 inches long and that with legs and all it spans a silver dollar.

And it has a ravenous appetite for flies. He drops flies into the jar occasionally and Mamma Spider lunges at them, brings them into her "paws" and sucks them dry.

No self-respecting spider would touch a dead fly, of course and Mr. Taylor's specimen refuses them.

Taft And Ebright Together

OFFICIALLY, the Republican party of Ohio opened its 1950 campaign Thursday night at a rally in Cleveland.

But the campaign's official opening was only a detail in its progress. The main elements in the progress have been in the forefront of political attention for more than a year.

They are the candidacies of Robert A. Taft for re-election to the U.S. Senate, and Don H. Ebright for election to the governorship. Mr. Taft and Mr. Ebright were automatic choices; they were the natural leaders.

The only important development in the campaign-opening exercises in Cleveland was the demonstration of something which needed no demonstrating to those who know these two men—that Mr. Taft and Mr. Ebright would stand shoulder to shoulder at the head of the Republican ticket.

They will do all they can to help each other. The only Ohioans who ever thought it might be any other way were wishful thinkers in the opposition. But they did not know Mr. Taft and Mr. Ebright very well.

This is as strong and as loyal a pair of ticket leaders as Ohio ever had at the head of the party roster. Senator Taft today is the outstanding representative of the Republican party in the nation. Mr. Ebright, now serving as state treasurer, is far and away the ablest man who could have been chosen to head the party's 1950 slate of state officers. He has proved his ability to lead the ticket under tougher circumstances than will exist this year.

The official campaign opening in Cleveland has called attention to these things. But politically-conscious Ohioans in both parties, and all others watching Ohio this year, had no need to be reminded of them. They were well aware of the election's significance.

The Republican party is sending its best men into a party contest which outshines any other election in 1950.

Turning Point

AN ADVANCE OF A FEW MILES and the unaccustomed sight of North Korean troops losing some of the initiative they have held so long do not necessarily mean a turning point in the Korean war.

But a turning point will be reached eventually.

When it happens, there may be a sudden and dramatic change in the complexion of the war above and beyond military action. It is impossible to believe the surviving North Koreans who surged southward from the 38th Parallel would relish a long, hard retreat to their starting point.

It also is impossible to believe the Soviet Union would be willing to stand by its puppet government to the extent of stemming a disordered retreat with large-scale support from fresh forces. In an area where communications are scanty and what communications there are have been battered by aerial bombardment and, recently, naval bombardment, it is unlikely that large-scale support could be brought to bear in any event.

There is the possibility that the Korean war may collapse as suddenly as it materialized. The possibility would become a probability within a few days after the beginning of a sustained advance by U.N. ground forces. The United States, in that event, would be all ready to win a military victory which had been conceded. The Kremlin would then be free to start military exercises in some other part of the world.

No Resistance In Congress

FAMILY-SUPPORT PAYMENTS for men called to military duty will probably be agreed on in Congress within a fortnight. There is no resistance to the general proposition that prompt relief must be forthcoming for the dependents of enlisted personnel not now provided for.

The need for prompt action is being highlighted by the sudden calling of reservists and National Guardsmen without enough time to make even temporary financial arrangements for their families. It would be a gesture of simple consideration for Congress to make family-support payments retroactive.

A Distinction Between Gooks

FOR BETTER OR WORSE, the word "Gook" has been pinned on the fighting men of North Korea by U.S. forces and the war correspondents accompanying them.

It is hard to see how any good can come from it. Even though the word effectually belittles the enemy—it is the carnival trade term for a freak—it has the serious disadvantage of belittling Koreans in general.

If the North Koreans are "Gooks", the South Koreans who are their near relations have a share in the insult. And it goes without saying that a very great deal depends on the South Koreans in this strange war.

Much of Japan's culture, art and learning came from China and India by way of Korea.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

Now Is The Time For All Good Men . . .

I HAVE RECEIVED a letter from an officer in the Navy during World War II. It contains this paragraph:

"I think your remarks about the failure of reserve officers to volunteer were too emotional, ill-considered and unfair. If, as our government tells us, this is only a border skirmish, why should we give up, temporarily, what we have tried so hard to re-establish—some degree of personal civilian living that has been denied us to a great degree by those who told us immediately, 'Come down out of the clouds—the war is over'.

"Mind, you, I don't say you are not right. I'm only attempting to get you to see that indecision, uncertainty and confusion among those officers you expect to jump into the front ranks is not necessarily the fault of the individuals themselves. It is, first and foremost, the abject failure of our leaders to declare this crusade for what it is. . . ."

This officer is correct. The administration was as inadequately prepared in its public relations as it was in its diplomacy and its supply for World War III. It rejected the concept of World War III, and having rejected it, when it actually arrived, Mr. Truman, Mr. Acheson and the others who must speak to the people, did not know what words to use.

PERHAPS the best way to answer this lieutenant commander is to say to him that the United States is worth much more than a parcel of politicians.

After all, Harry Truman is not the United States of America. He is only its president, and presidents come and go. There was once a president called Chester A. Arthur and the United States survived.

In a word, our country is bigger and more important than any man in it, and our civilization is still greater. Both are imperiled at this moment, our country more than ever in its history.

This Korean episode of World War III is the fourth big push of the Slavo-Mongolian hordes against the United States, as the primary country of the western world. The first big push was the conquest of China by Soviet Russia. This did not involve a great effort, as Soviet Russia was assisted by the State Department. Twice they had attempted to destroy American prestige in Europe by pushing us out of Berlin. Twice they failed.

Had the China job not been so easy, it is possible that Soviet Russia would not have gone into Korea. A country that permits itself to be pushed around cannot lead the world. Although Dean Acheson did not understand that, Harry Truman did. That is why he moved so quickly in the Korean situation, although he was unprepared for it.

BUT THERE is much more to this. If we get pushed out of Korea, all the Asiatic countries, following their historic characteristics, will say that Premer Stalin is the satrap and they will turn on us with such savagery as we can hardly imagine.

You might say that they could never come here. Well, maybe that is so, but they could overrun Europe, all the 800 million of them. They could leave us an island in a Slavo-Mongolian world.

There is the issue, and anyone can take it from there. I recall that when Hitler went to war, anyone suggesting that this country had better stay out of a fight between two vicious, malevolent, imperialistic dictators was called an isolationist and was smeared almost as though he were a traitor. Some of the finest Americans, such as Charles Lindbergh, were so abused as isolationists, which was made a bad word.

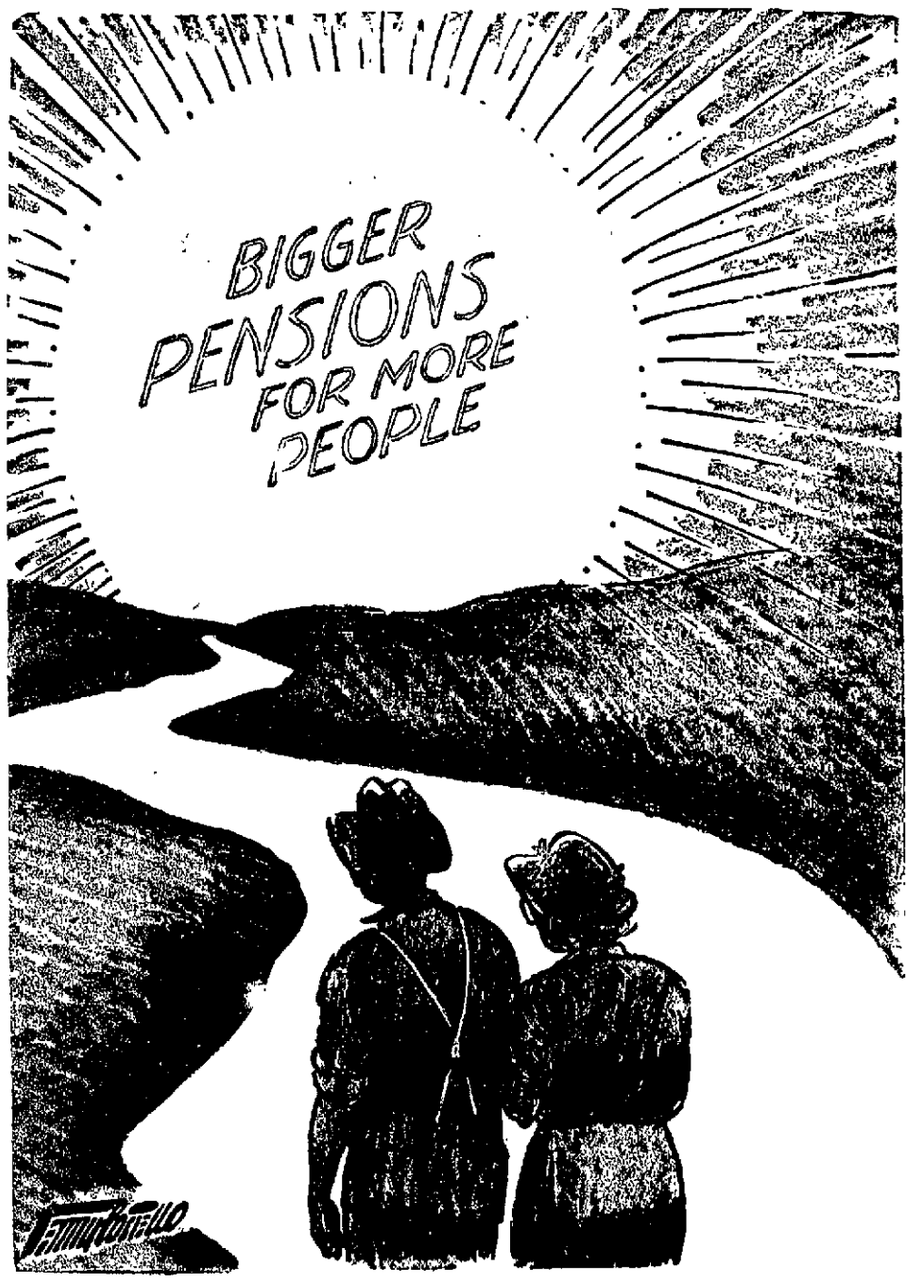

Today, one of those dictators is out of the way and the other is engaged in isolating us. He may succeed. He certainly will succeed if our people do not quickly recognize that we are not warring against Korea and Koreans, but against Russia and Russians. He certainly will succeed unless this country gets down to the business of preserving itself.

It really makes little difference whether Harry Truman is elected or defeated, or whether in 1950 we get a Democratic or a Republican Congress.

It is too late for that kind of small stuff, which seems to preoccupy Mr. Truman. We have a major war on our hands and now is the time for all true men to come to the aid.

When Will We Adopt A Military Policy?

By David Lawrence

WHEN WILL the United States adopt a national military policy? The present crisis may be over in a few months if no large-scale war is begun, but the United States will still be without a national military policy unless there is a complete re-examination soon of the weaknesses in strategic concept which have produced our unbalanced defense of today.

Too much reliance is being placed on anticipated co-operation by the members of the North Atlantic pact. Too much is expected also from a loose federation of governments with diverse interests in the United Nations. Too little thought, moreover, has been given to the fact that the Pacific Ocean will be an area of trouble for many years to come.

The simple truth is that in the last five years the U. S. joint chiefs of staff have been influenced by pressure to divide up an allotted sum of money and they have not developed an overall strategic plan for the defense of the United States or for the fulfillment of the global responsibilities assumed by this country since the close of World War II.

THE LIMITED concept thus far has been that the United States can wage an air war with atom bombs carried by intercontinental bombers and that navies and ground armies would play a secondary role. The Korean war has depreciated this concept.

It had evidently been approved by President Truman on the theory that this was the best military advice available. There were dissenting views inside the military establishment, but these were not given full expression.

Actually, the military chieftains will admit that they never felt that any program they offered was "adequate" and they have never known what the diplomatic commitments or involvements would be that they would be called upon to carry out in a military sense.

Thus, the decision not to defend South Korea was made last January and announced by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It was reversed in June. To what extent the military men suppressed their own feelings and conceded in January that Korea need not be defended has never been revealed.

But certainly any group of military advisers who did not see the threat to Japan and eventually to the United States through a possible Russian seizure of Korea has no business running the military program of the United States.

The desire to possess Korea is based on the inherent craving of the Soviet military men to be able to strike at Japan. It is a craving born of the imperialism of the czars, but it is basically and traditionally Russian. Russia didn't train and equip the North Korean army in a few months. It was doubtless a four-year job. The Russians want Korea for the same reasons that the Japanese Empire conquered it.

Apparently no decision has yet been reached by American policymakers as to whether the new Japan is to be thrown into the arms of Communist Russia or to be assisted to become an ally of the United States.

IN ANY event, there can be no building of our Army, Navy or Air Force to adequate strength for defense—or offense, when required—if no military policy of a long-range character is formulated.

This task may have to be undertaken now by the newly-appointed subcommittee of the Senate armed services' committee, which is headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas and comprised, in addition, of Senators Chapman of Kentucky, Kefauver of Tennessee, Hunt of Wyoming, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Morse of Oregon.

This correspondent was wrong in his impression that the subcommittee was established for "whitewash" purposes. Later information plainly indicates that the committee will not be partisans of the status quo, but will approach objectively both the mistakes of the past and the planning for the future. The members were carefully selected on the basis of their ability to do the job.

The subcommittee has an unprecedented opportunity. It cannot only come up with recommendations for the improvement of our armed services, but it can speak up on the problem of coordinating our military and diplomatic concepts, which is something that has plagued the armed services of the United States for decades past.

It is more dangerous now than ever before to allow a drifting policy that improvises in emergencies. A long-range policy is more than ever needed if the safety of the United States is really to be assured.

Vending Machines

By Truman Twill

NOTHING makes better sense in an age of gadgetry than vending machines. They belong in the picture.

They represent the very foundation of the age of gadgetry, which is built on the fact that machinery is more fool-proof than human nature. A vending machine is designed to be an improvement over people. It is not, as commonly supposed, merely a substitute for the human touch.

A cup of coffee or a swig of pop out of a vending machine has never known the intruding thumb of a waitress. Customers who buy insurance policies, railroad tickets, playing cards, candy and cigarettes from vending machines have spent no time trying to get the undivided attention of preoccupied clerks, or—in the case of the insurance policy—fending off the annoying arm-twisting of an overzealous agent.

The movement to substitute vending machines for inefficient, obstreperous, hazy-minded and sometimes dishonest clerks is gathering momentum. It now is possible to buy everything from a pair of sox to ladies' unmentionables from these mechanical servants. A "dumb waiter", incidentally, was the first vending machine. That is where the idea came from.

The objective always has been the same—not to supplant human labor, which is the common notion, but to improve on service to the customer. Over the long pull, vending machines cause a net increase in employment. They require a huge corps of caretakers, to say nothing of the people employed by the manufacturers. And they sell more stuff.

At first, the machines were resisted. They were different, and the early models were full of disappointments. But they have improved with the years. They have been made acceptable by usage. A sense of logic indicates more and more places where they will be an improvement over the notorious shortcomings of human beings. The opportunities scarcely have been scratched.

This is not intended to leave the impression there is anything equal to or better than a good clerk. It is intended only to leave the impression that good clerks are so rare that merchandising has had to fall back on gear-filled boxes to take up the slack in distribution of consumer goods.

Who Owns Underwater Oil?

By Raymond Moley

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.

WHILE CONGRESS is preoccupied with foreign affairs, economic controls, taxes and defense legislation, a very important piece of business needs doing this year.

The decisions of the Supreme Court in the so-called Tidelands cases affecting California, Texas and Louisiana have left the ownership and ultimate control of vast properties affecting our national life completely in the air. Everyone, including the Supreme Court, looks to Congress to clarify the issue by specific legislation.

The California case, decided in 1947, and the Texas and Louisiana cases, decided this year, were masterpieces of ambiguity. In general, the decisions seemed to associate the unquestioned sovereignty of the national government over the properties with ownership, despite the fact that sovereignty, or imperium, and ownership, or dominium, have always hitherto been separate.

Until now the states have assumed ownership and private companies have paid the states royalties for oil taken out under arrangements with the states. Now no one knows whether the royalties belong to the states or to the federal government and royalties are set aside for final determination.

It is even unclear how far out in the ocean and Gulf the property rights of the states extend.

An enormously important question involves the water south of the region surrounding Santa Barbara. This part of the coast faces what is properly called a channel.

A series of islands follows the coast for many miles at a distance of 20 miles or so. Between the mainland and the islands and under the water are deposits of oil worth indeterminate but undoubtedly vast numbers of millions. If the so-called three-mile limit is to be recognized, where does the measurement begin? Is it beyond the mainland or beyond the islands?

Meanwhile, the entire issue awaits action.

Russia Woos Germans

By Dewitt Mackenzie

NEW YORK

PERSISTENTLY and methodically Moscow is campaigning to win West Germany away from the western Allies, join it to eastern Germany and then incorporate the reunited Reich among the satellites.

The great drawing card offered by the Reds is the promise of reunion with eastern Germany, now pictured by the Russians, but not by other observers, as a land of milk and honey under Soviet occupation.

Unity—that's a goal never absent from the average German mind. There are no more nationalistic folk in all Europe than these of the Reich.

Germany's former powerful position as the military and economic keystone of continental Europe makes this aspect of the cold war crucially important. It is so important that time may record it as one of the decisive engagements in the conflict of the ideologies.

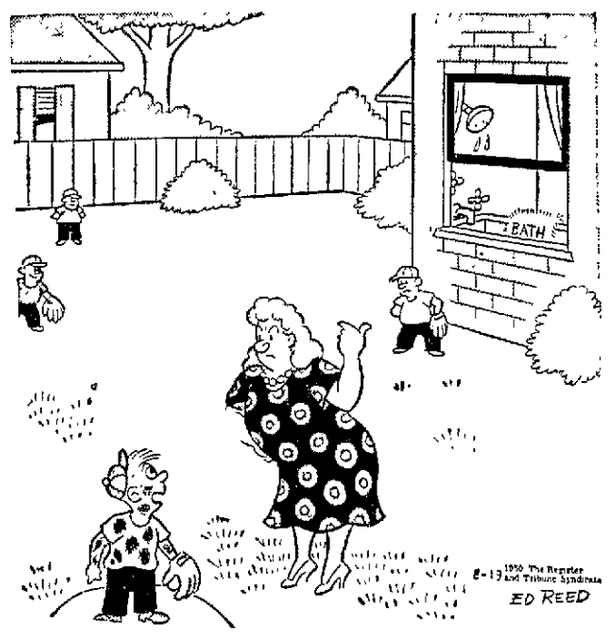

Western Germany is the defensive barrier between the Soviet zone and the democracies. It was disclosed in Frankfurt the other day that nearly all western military men and most officials stationed there agree Europe couldn't be defended against Russia without the arming of West Germany.

That's a striking admission—by experts who not long ago swore that a guilty Germany shouldn't be allowed to rearm. It's an admission born out of common sense—and out of the potential dangers of a cold war" which is "cold" only in the sense that Vesuvius is "cold". It could get mighty hot—and quick.

As things stand at the moment, the Soviet campaign to win West Germany is in what may be called the political stage—with the Reds carrying the ball.

The big question about the campaign is when (if at all) the Red "political" activities may be converted into physical action.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Hotel Room And The Rope

SARATOGA, cradle of American racing, is among the American cities having a hotel or two in which a coil of rope in a corner of a room is still retained for use in case of fire. Shudda Haddim, famous two-dollar plunger, found himself in one of them the other night and couldn't sleep a wink. The rope kept me pop-eyed all night," he said today. "I was up only two flights and I knew there was little fire danger, but the minute I climbed into bed, I happened to take a gander at a window and the coil of rope. At first I try to convince myself that it is just sumpin' left over from the General Grant period by mistake or maybe the fellow who had the room ahead of me was an Indian rope trick fakir or maybe a cowboy. But it's no dice.

"I know what it's for and I try sayin', 'Forget it and go to sleep like a man. A rope is better than nuthin'. But I am hypnotized by a few yards of hemp. A little voice says to me, 'You better get up and see how it is fastened. Maybe you gotta tie a sailor's knot or sumpin' and should need a rehearsal just in case. What shape is the rope in? What's more important, what shape are YOU in'? So for three or four hours I lays there worryin' over my own rope form. The more I think about it the more I realize I ain't got no rope form. I am a first-time starter. I need schoolin'.

"YOU HAD better get up, take a look at the rope and see how to grip it", the voice says. So I gets up and uncoils the thing to get the feel of it. This starts me worryin' If I know the right grip and if the rope is my size or maybe for a guy who don't weigh so much. I start doplin' out the routine of leavin' a hotel on a rope. I figure the first thing to do is to drop one end of it out the window to the street. But suppose a guy on the floor below ain't got no rope of his own and gets on my rope first? I know what fast workers these race track boys are, especially in the pinches. And I break out in a cold sweat on account of I ain't sure if I am a fast breaker or a slow breaker in a rope event. Also is there any penalty if one guy cuts in ahead of me on this rope?

"I also get to thinkin' what good it would do me if there is regular rules in this hotel which provide for a disqualification of a guest who crowds me on a rope. If he is down first and I finish last and in bad shape what good does it do me to know he has been found guilty of a foul?

"AROUND 3 in the morning I am still tossin' and turnin' and I decide to throw a sheet over the rope so I won't see it at all. But a coil of rope with a sheet over it is a worse mental handicap than ever. A breeze comes through the window and the sheet ripples like the rope was movin' under it and it reminds me of a giant cobra. And I get a urge to beat it to death with a chair. But on second thought I decide I should not be so nervous with a snake in the room as I am with a coil of rope. Finally, I am almost asleep when the voice pipes, 'Hey bub, how about etiquette? Should you slide down a rope in pajamas or wait to dress, this being a swell resort full of society people? And what is good form, the hand over hand descent or the slow slide'?

"Well, dawn comes with me still pop-eyed. But I get a happy idea. I gets up and puts the rope in the bed. And I crawls over and coils up on the floor where the rope was. No it don't work neither. What a night!"

It seems to this department that the "No comment" routine among public men has gone far enough. It has within the last few years become the refuge of too many men in too many situations. Things have reached a point where a top statesman is apt to say "No comment" when asked "Gotta match?" or "What time is it?" We urge a return to the candor of the days when an American official had the guts to answer any except the most embarrassing questions and scorned the tactics of the no-comment boys.

America's Historic Churches

Old Vermont Edifice Now A Museum

OLD VERMONT CHURCH NOW A MUSEUM

By FREDERICK POLLEY

THIS drawing shows a portion of the historical museum and art gallery at Bennington, Vt., built in 1855 as the St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church. It was the first Catholic church in Bennington.

It was not a large building but was adequate for the congregation, which at that time was composed principally of Irish immigrants, domestic servants, and farm laborers of the community. On the special occasion of Easter Morning mass, large groups of communicants came from as far away as Troy, N. Y., to worship.

For many years the first Roman Catholic parochial school in Bennington was quartered in the basement of the little church. Sister Mary, still in the village, was a student in the school, and was later consecrated in the building.

The building was remodeled and enlarged to its present size in 1923 with an adjoining wing and central connecting unit and opened to the general public as a museum and art gallery.

Truman Fights 'Privilege' In Controls Bill

Also Warns Against Any Power-Whittling Restrictions In Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Truman's appeal for anti-inflation controls without "special privilege" concessions or power-whittling restrictions touched off mixed reaction in Congress today.

Senator Maybank, (D) of South Carolina predicted there will be "no real special privilege amendments" favoring any industry or commodity in the home front mobilization bill Congress finally enacts.

But Mr. Maybank, floor manager of the Senate bill, said he will make no move himself to meet Mr. Truman's renewed plea for authority to curb commodity speculation.

Senator Flanders (R) of Vermont denounced special privilege amendments as strongly as Mr. Truman did in a letter he sent late yesterday to Vice-president Barkley, presiding officer of the Senate.

"There is just no room or rightful place for them in this bill," Mr. Flanders declared.

Senator Fulbright (D) of Arkansas said, however, that the administration will have only itself to blame if any special treatment amendments wind up in the economic controls bill. The Senate will vote on the measure Monday.

"A good many of us don't have confidence that the administration will handle this program the way Congress wants it handled unless we spell it all out in great detail," Mr. Fulbright told a reporter.

In his letter to Mr. Barkley, the President said he is much concerned about the outcome of the Senate bill, and added:

"Two things seem to be happening. First, the powers for which I asked, on July 19, in order to meet the immediate situation, are being whittled down in certain important respects.

"Second, it appears that the wage and price powers which the Congress proposes to add may be so circumscribed by a host of detailed limitations and provisos as to confuse and hamper administration should it become necessary to invoke them."

Landlord, Former Tenant Each Sues

A Municipal Court jury is scheduled to hear a double-barreled civil action Wednesday in which a landlord seeks $53 for rent from his former tenant and the defendant countered with a cross-petition for $250, claiming the well water on the property made two of his children ill.

William S. Gunn of the Campground Road filed the original action against Jesse Lennens, 540 Mulberry St., claiming Mr. Lennens still owes him $53 of an original $88 rent bill for property he occupied in 1948 near Kountz Ave. in Liverpool township.

Mr. Lennens replied that he owes no back rent—that a suit over the same sum was dismissed in a Wellsville justice court after he paid the costs.

Then, he tacked on the demand for $250 and costs from his former landlord, declaring that two of his children were made ill by drinking water from a well Mr. Gunn represented as "pure and fit for human use". Later, the State Health Department condemned the well and the tenant was forced to haul water from another spot a half mile away, Mr. Lennens charges.

Youngstown Mayor To Address Trustees

Charles Henderson, mayor of Youngstown, will be principal speaker at the annual corn roast Thursday of the Columbiana County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks.

The outing is scheduled for 7 p. m. at Pavilion 4 at Firestone Park, Columbiana, according to J. Neil McIntosh, St. Clair township clerk and secretary of the association.

About 150 are expected. W. R. Wagner, district engineer from the Northeast District of the Ohio Department of Health, also will speak.

His subject will be "Sewage Disposal in Heavily Populated Rural Areas".

U.S. 'Freezes' Sale Of Surplus Property

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The government yesterday ordered a "freeze" on the sale of its surplus property.

All property will be looked at again to see if it is needed for defense.

The freeze order covers war plants and supplies, equipment and material, civilian and military alike — regardless of previous authority for disposal.

Confident Living

How To Keep Cool

IT IS A VERY HOT DAY as I sit at my desk and write this. The windows are wide open and my fan is whirring away, but I still find it hard to keep cool. And then I think of the story of Katy and I am instantly refreshed. The chances are that the day you read this will be another hot day in a hot summer and I hope this story refreshes you as well.

I heard about Katy one Sunday last August. It was the hottest day I could remember. The day before had almost a quality of terror in it. It was a dead kind of heat. I have known heat like it before in desert regions, but never had felt it in the city until then. People said there was not even a breeze stirring and, for once, they were exactly right. There wasn't even the shadow of a breeze.

Dr. Peale

I was going over to East Orange, New Jersey, to preach in a church there. I drove my car faster than I usually do, trying to get a little cool air on my face. But it wasn't much use. It was a heavy heat with a high humidity and a high temperature.

I will never forget that sermon nor, I guess, will the congregation. Not that I had said anything special. But it was probably the first time anyone had ever preached a sermon in an oven—or anyone had stayed to listen!

—:—

AFTER THE SERVICE, a woman came up to speak to me. It was she who told me about Katy.

She said to me, "Something Katy said last night did me so much good."

"Who is this Katy, and what did she say?" I asked.

"Katy is a colored woman; she is our laundress," I was told. "I went over to see her last night because she was ironing a dress for me. She lives in a little room in a pretty poor house. The only ventilation is a little window two feet long and a foot and a half wide. It's down in the basement. When I went down, it was almost a hundred degrees out on the street and it felt like about one hundred and twenty in that basement.

"But there was Katy, ironing and singing at her work. I could hardly stand that heat and wanted to get out right away, but my dress wasn't finished yet. I watched her as she worked in that stifling heat and I said 'Katy, I don't know how you stand it.'

"'Oh,' she said, 'Ma'm, I have a secret. I have a secret. You can stand anything with the secret I have.'

"'What is this secret, Katy?"

"'Why, I just puts the Lord before me. Whenever there's anything that I need, I just turns to the Lord. The Lord made these bodies of ours. He knows what they can stand and what they can't. So I just says to Him, 'Lord, I think I need just a little wisp of a breeze about now,' and the Lord gives it to me. I just puts the Lord before me'."

—:—

EVER SINCE THEN, whenever there has been anything I thought I couldn't stand, I have remembered Katy's secret. I just put the Lord before me.

If you want to keep cool, both inside and out this summer, try Katy's secret yourself. Put the Lord before you and you will feel cooler.

There's nothing strange about this. It's a plan that works because it is based on a simple principle. Each of us has learned individually how much cooler we feel when we relax in a hammock or on a chair, or in a couch, with our shoes off and the barriers of dress and convention we practice most of the time relaxed a bit.

And we all know that physical relaxation is only part of keeping cool. Even in the coldest weather, excitement and tension can make sweat pour down our faces. Mental relaxation is just as important in trying to keep cool.

How to find mental relaxation is something I have written about in this column and elsewhere many times. I have outlined formulas and techniques by the score. But they all, in essence, really boil down to Katy's secret.

Put the Lord before you and keep him there always, and you can always be cool, both inside and out.

Bedell Smith Named Chief Of Intelligence

Ex-Moscow Envoy Will Try To Learn What Reds Are Up To

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP) Walter Bedell Smith, the American general who spent three years watching the Russians from the U. S. Embassy in Moscow, is going to be the new chief of the Central Intelligence Agency. The priority job of that agency is to learn what the Soviets are up to now. Announcement was made last night that General Smith, who was ambassador to Russia from February, 1946, to March 1949, will become director of the top political-military intelligence unit late in September. He succeeds Rear Admiral Rosco H. Hillenkoetter. White House Secretary Charles Ross took pains to declare the change does not reflect any presidential dissatisfaction with Admiral Hillenkoetter's work. He said the admiral had requested months ago to be relieved so he could take sea duty with the Navy.

General Smith

Mr. Ross' statement obviously was directed at offsetting speculation that the change in C. I. A. command was linked to U. S. surprise at the North Korean Communist invasion of South Korea.

General Smith, 54 and veteran of Army service beginning in World War I, was chief of staff for General Dwight D. Eisenhower at Allied supreme headquarters in World War II.

Services Set Monday For Methodist Pastor

COLUMBUS, Aug. 19 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Monday for Rev. Silas W. Rosenberger, 77, retired Methodist minister who died Thursday in University Hospital.

ASK ANY TRUST OFFICER

A trust officer knows the benefits of planning in advance. That's his business. He'll tell you, "Like any estate, your family burial estate should be planned before need and to the entire family's satisfaction." In following his advice, select a traditional cemetery where you are permitted to erect a monument of granite or marble to perpetuate the memory of those departed. It will be a source of pride to you all your life.

CARRYING A ROSARY belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. John Michels, Miss Sondra Mae Wood and John Michels Jr. were united in marriage Thursday morning during Nuptial Low Mass celebrated at 10:30 o'clock in St. Aloysius Catholic Church by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Lavery, V. F.

Palms, ferns, lighted tapers and white flowers formed the altar setting for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sylvia Wood, 1219 St. Clair Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Michels, 311 Jefferson St.

Miss Suzanne Hulme, friend of the bride, was organist and presented a recital of traditional music. Mrs. Hugh McTeague and Robert Shea, soloists, sang "Mother Beloved" as the bride placed a bouquet on the Blessed Virgin altar.

Lester and Richard Dorsey were acolytes.

Given in marriage by her father, Harry Wood, the bride wore nylon net. A wide Bertha lace collar, trimmed in seed pearls, highlighted the fitted bodice and the peek-a-boo hoop skirt fell into a long train. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a lace Juliet cap trimmed with orange blossoms. The white prayer book she carried was topped with a white orchid.

Miss Ruth Ann Taylor was maid of honor in orchid and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Margaret Michels and Miss Patricia Parsons were bridesmaids in gold and carried Colonial bouquets of talisman roses.

Marjorie Taylor was flower girl, and Dr. Albert Michels Jr. served as best man. Those who ushered were Ronald Woomer, Louis Tychonievich and Thomas Dougherty.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wood was dressed in a toast-colored dress with brown accessories and wore a brown orchid.

Mrs. Michels chose Navy with matching accessories and her orchid was white.

One hundred and fifty attended a reception after the ceremony at the Travelers Hotel. A miniature bridal couple topped the five-tiered cake.

Out-of-town guests came from Kentucky, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, Wheeling and Bellaire.

The bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories and an orchid for traveling. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside in an apartment on Jefferson St.

A 1949 graduate of East Liverpool High School, the bride attended Ohio University, Athens, last year.

The bridegroom is a barber with the Cunningham Barber Shop and is a 1946 graduate of East Liverpool High School and attended Bowling Green (O.) University.

MARRIAGE VOWS WERE exchanged by Miss Ruth Jean Rowlands and John Square Adkins Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the parsonage of the Second Christian Church. Rev. Oakey W. Grow, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony in the presence of mothers of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rowlands, 725 Dewey Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mabel Collins of Oakmont.

The bride carried a white Bible and wore a light blue street-length dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Miss Hazel Mae Rowlands, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and also wore blue with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Wayne Adkins served as best man for his brother.

A reception for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents and a miniature bridal couple topped the three-tiered cake.

They are residing temporarily with the bride's parents.

Both are employed at the Frantz Bakery and the bride is a 1948 graduate of East Liverpool High School.

DiMag Slams Game-Winning Homer On Return To Lineup

Indians And Tigers Rained Out; Phils Bow

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Can Joe DiMaggio do it again?

The Yankee Clipper's dramatic ninth inning home run in Philadelphia last night recalls his stirring deeds of 1949. How he came off the bench, plagued by injuries, to loosen a home run flurry that spurred New York to the American League pennant.

So far DiMaggio has been a bitter disappointment in 1950. So much of a flop that Manager Casey Stengel benched him last week for a "rest". They whispered Joe was washed up. Said he never again could demand $100,000 for a year's salary. Maybe they were wrong.

Restored to his old No. 4 clean-up spot in the batting order last night, DiMaggio responded with a home run that shaded Philadelphia, 3-2. It was his first homer and first run batted in since July 30.

DiMaggio went hitless until the ninth of a tight battle between the Yanks' Vic Raschi and the A's Lou Brissie. With one out and nobody on base, he hit Brissie's first pitch some 400 feet into the upper left field stands at Shibe Park.

It was an important win for the Yankees because both Detroit and Cleveland were rained out. As a result New York gained a half game on each and now trails the league-leading Tigers by four games.

Boston reeled off its sixth straight at Fenway Park, 7-6, after a 10-inning struggle with Washington. Bobby Doerr's 21st homer off Elmer Singleton, leading off the tenth, broke up the game. The Red Sox also gained on the Tigers and Indians. They are six games out of first place.

Brooklyn chewed a full game off the Phillies' lead in the National as that race also tightened. By whipping Boston, 8-3, while New York dumped the Phils, 7-4, the Dodgers moved to within 5½ games of first place.

Big Jim Hearn, the $10,000 bonus bargain, beat the Phils for the second time within a week. The ex-St. Louis Cardinals right-hander, allowed only five hits including homers by Andy Seminick and Willie Jones.

Hearn never has lost to the Phils, either as a Giant or Cardinal. His lifelong record is 7-0 against that club. It was his fifth victory to one loss since joining the Giants.

For the second game of the important series today, the Phils sent Ken Johnson, another ex-Cardinal, against Larry Jansen, the Giants' ace.

Brooklyn struggling to get back into the thick of things, will send Preacher Roe after Boston, looking for his 17th win. Mickey Haefner, waived out of the American League recently, will make his first start for the Braves.

Carl Erskine almost lasted the route last night for the Dodgers. The rookie had a no-hitter until Sam Jethroe beat out an infield hit with two out in the sixth. After the Braves got to him for three in the eighth, Ralph Branca came in to relieve him in a ninth-inning jam.

Red Schoendienst's 11th inning single showed St. Louis home in front of Cincinnati, 2-1. A throwing error by Grady Hatton set the stage for the winning single.

William Ramsdell just missed a shutout win in regulation time. He had two out and a 1-0 lead in the last of the ninth when Del Rice singled. Chuck Diering ran for Rice and scored on Nippy Jones' pinch double.

Pittsburgh staged a four-run first inning to flatten Chicago's Walt Dubiel, 9-3.

North Rips South, 33-7, In All-Star Tilt

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 19 (AP)—Scoring in every quarter, Ohio's Northern All-Stars defeated the Southern squad last night, 33-7—in the most decisive victory in the five-year series.

Big Asa Jenkins, 203-pound Mansfield Tygers fullback, paced the offensive for the Northern seniors. The up-staters could have won the game on his two touchdowns alone, first of the game.

Frank Pauly, retiring athletic director of Waite High School in Toledo, said sponsors lost about $5,000 on the game. Attendance in the rain-drenched stadium was set at 7,000.

Jenkins scored his first touchdown during the first few minutes of the game. Dick Herbrouck of Akron converted.

Jenkins drove six yards for the second tally in the second period, and Herbrouck again kicked the extra point.

The South's lone tally came in the same period when Quarterback Joe Powers of Springfield passed to Joe Tangeman of Dayton Chaminade on his own 22-yard line. Tangeman in turn tossed a lateral to Bob Joslin, Middletown halfback, who ran 78 yards. Bob Sheets of Springfield kicked the extra point.

Turning on the power in the third period, the North came through with two more touchdowns. Larry Shells, Alliance end, tallied the first on an intercepted pass, and Clarence Johnson, Massillon halfback, came through with one later.

Dick Hill of Findlay scored the last North marker when he went five yards over left tackle in the last quarter.

The South offensive never seemed able to get going on the slippery field. But Clarence Tyo, Nelsonville fullback, turned in a good offensive job. Several times he stopped Northern ball carriers in the open.

In the five-game series, each team has won two games. One contest ended in a tie.

Trua Plays With North

Nick Trua, rugged little center on East Liverpool's 1949 eleven played with the winning North squad in Friday night's Ohio All-Star grid game at Toledo. He saw action at guard.

City League To Meet

An important meeting of City League managers and officials will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at the City Hall, Secretary Fred Hilditch announced today.

Ransom Moves Into Second In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP)—That blade putter another professional gave him may prove to be a $2,600 present for Henry Ransom. The cool Texan was just one stroke off the pace as the Eastern Open Golf tournament went into the third round today.

Ransom shot a glittering 65 in yesterday's 18-hole installment. He cracked par by seven, tying the new course record set only the day before by mountainous Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C.

The performance offset Ransom's mediocre 73 on opening day Thursday and propelled him into the forefront of pros charging after the $2,600 top handout of the $16,500 Eastern.

Heafner turned in a 65 on Thursday but yesterday he saw his lead vanish when the magic of his approach shots dwindled and "I just wasn't putting well".

So he wound up with a par 72 and Jimmy Clark of Huntington Beach, Calif., slipped into a first-place tie with him after adding a 66 to his 71 opening effort for 137.

Ransom was tied for second place at the halfway mark with a 138, sharing the score with John Palmer of Badin, N. C.

Hard on the leaders' necks as play resumed today were Fred Haas Jr., of Claremont, Calif., with 139, Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., 140, and Walter Romans of Baltimore, Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Bill Nary of Chino, Calif., with 141 each.

Riley, Murray Clash In Women's Golf Finals

CHICAGO, Aug. 19 (AP) — It was Texas versus Vermont, a seasoned campaigner against a talented stranger in today's 36-hole showdown for the Women's Western Amateur golf title.

The Lone Star State shooter was Fort Worth's Polly Riley, stocky 23-year-old runner-up in this same meet two years ago.

The Vermont Yankee was Mae Murray, 24-year-old daughter of a Rutland golf pro, making her western debut with the comparatively limited fame of winning five straight Vermont state titles.

Mae, who winters as a desk clerk at Mid Pines, N. C., yesterday easily disposed of her semi-final opponent, Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md., 4 and 3.

Meanwhile, Miss Riley, an employe of a Fort Worth law firm, had to rally spectacularly for an extra-hole triumph over Peggy Kirk, Findlay, O.

New Champion Assured

Chuck Kennedys Upset Vets, 2-0; Jaycees Wallop Globe Brick, 20-2

A new champion will be crowned in the Y. M. C. A.'s softball tournament when play ends next Friday.

That was assured last night when Chuck Kennedy Nash upset the defending champion Veteran of Foreign Wars, 2-0, in a pitchers' battle.

Unleashing the heaviest attack of the tourney, the Junior Chamber of Commerce gained the semi-final round by blasting Globe Brick, 20-2.

The other semi-finalists will be decided Monday night. In the first game starting at 5:45, Wilson and Welch of Wellsville will meet Ceramic Aulo, with Higgs Inn battling Aliquippa C. I. O. in the nightcap.

Bill Vaughn and Johnny Clendenning hooked up in a duel in the Kennedys-Vets battle last night, each allowing only five scattered hits.

Ed Peters tagged Clendenning for a home run in the third inning for the deciding run. The other run scored in the sixth. With two out, Ed Vocial doubled and scored on Bob McDevitt's single.

Vaughn scattered the hits over five innings with a double play helping him out of trouble in the second. Crowe had two of the Vets' hits.

The Jaycees combed Peloso for 20 hits, including home runs by Finley, Springer and Muller.

Gauron paced the attack with four hits while Finley and Goodman had three each.

The winners scored at least two runs in every inning but the second.

Fone scattered 10 hits, allowing both runs in the fifth on a single by Harrington, Peloso's two-bagger and a base rap by Webb.

Billiter, Virden and Harrington had two hits apiece for the losers.

Moose Blank Waterford, 7-0

The Moose shut out New Waterford, 7-0, Friday night to even their record for the season in the Beaver Rural League. The game was called at the end of the fifth by darkness.

It was the losers' 20th straight defeat.

A. Smith and Pierce drove in three runs each for the Moose as Morgan scattered five New Waterford singles.

Cunningham and Pierce had two hits each in three appearances at the plate.

North Eleven Wins W.Va. All-Star Game

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 19 (AP)—The North did it again.

Repeating last year's performance, also under Coach Emil Dupke of Triadelphia, the upstaters came from behind to register a 12-9 victory over a heavier Southern team in the 17th annual North-South All-Star football game.

For Dupke, veteran Triadelphia High School, it was a sweet farewell to West Virginia football. He leaves to become coach at Washington (Pa.) High with a record of being the only coach ever to repeat a North-South victory. His team won last year, 14-9.

Penn Ave. Beats Calcutta To Take 3rd

The Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist climbed back into third place in the Church Softball League Thursday night by defeating the Calcutta United Presbyterians, 10-9, at Calcutta.

Leading off with seven runs in the first inning, the Methodist were never headed although outhit 15 to 7.

There were two homers—Taylor of the Methodists in the second with the sacks empty, and Morris of Calcutta in the third with two on.

Leading the attack for Penn Ave. was North with three hits and Rea with two. Dunn and Chadwick of the losers each had three, and Morris H. Thompson and McFarland, two.

Batteries were Rea and Banfield for Penn Ave. and D. Thompson and McFarland for Calcutta.

Meanwhile, Bus Schneidermiller, secretary, announced a meeting of all managers and officials will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A.

Five postponed games will be played next week, starting Monday night.

Police Top Review

The Police Department softball team hung another licking on The Review, 9-2, Friday night on the Thompson Park field. The Police put over seven big runs in the fourth, then coasted. The game's only home run was smacked by Mike Winters of the Police, a long blast to left field.

Bill Jeffrey, soccer coach, and Charlie Speidel, wrestling mentor, are the only coaches remaining from the Penn State staff of 20 years ago. Both have fielded 24 teams.

Grid Browns Picked To Beat Colts Tonight

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19 (AP) Cincinnatians, who have seen plenty of good college football, are due for a peek at the professional variety tonight. The top-flight Cleveland Browns and the Baltimore Colts will appear at Nippert Stadium in a charity exhibition contest.

The game is sponsored by the Foundation for Boys, Inc., and — with good weather — officials hope for another excellent crowd. Last year's clash between the Chicago Bears and the Pittsburgh Steelers drew a customer for every seat in the bowl.

The Browns, under the careful mentoring of Coach Paul Brown, will assume the favorite's role. They have never been beaten by the Colt's in regular season games and have lost only once to Baltimore in nine meetings. That was in a 1948 exhibition.

The fabulous Cleveland squad won four straight championships in the new defunct All-America Conference.

Both clubs have one game under their belts, Cleveland winning a 38-7 decision over the Green Bay Packers last Saturday while the Colts bowed, 30-27, to the Steelers.

Moving back to Cincinnati with the Baltimore Coach Clem Crowe, headman at Xavier University here from 1935 to 1943, are Chuggin' Chet Mutryn and Tom Blake. Mutryn, the Cleveland butcher boy was a great halfback star with Crowe's 1941 and 1942 Xavier squads. Blake played standout ball for the University of Cincinnati as a lineman in '46, '47 and '48.

There will be a local well-known coming in with the Browns, too. He is Tossin' Tom O'Malley, a rookie pro who quarter-backed Cincinnati teams for four seasons. O'Malley sprained an ankle in practice Thursday, however, and it is doubtful that Brown will let him see action.

A newcomer on the Colts is Adrian Burke of Baylor, who led all collegians last year when he broke a forward passing record, completing 110 of 191 forward passes, 14 of them for touchdowns.

The big boy the fans will be watching for is Cleveland's Otto Graham, top-ranking pro passer last season. Graham completed three touchdown tosses against Green Bay last week.

DODGE'N AROUND

If it's true that "A wise man changes his mind; a fool never does", then no one can accuse our good friend Henry Wallace of being foolish. In the space of a very few years Henry Agard has been a Republican, a Democrat and a Progressive and now that we are at war with our former ally, Russia, Mr. Wallace no longer claims membership with the Progressives.

All the time that Mr. Wallace was campaigning for the presidency on the Progressive ticket he was telling us that we had nothing to fear from Russia and that anyway the Progressive Party had nothing to do with the communists. Now that the chips are down and everything is out in the open we find that Henry was just trying to feed the good old American voter some very smelly bunk.

After all is said and done the average citizen isn't as easily fooled as some of our friends would have you believe. Usually men have the ability to separate the right from the wrong and as long as we have a free press along with freedom of thought, the likes of Henry Wallace and Lee Pressman won't have a chance.

We understand that Henry is going back to farming and we hope that he has more success with improving the breed of his favorite hybrid corn than he had with improving the breed of the communists.

For many years now we here at Hays Motors have been attempting to render good and efficient service to our customers and there hasn't been any change in that policy. It is a fact that our customers understand this policy for more and more of them keep coming back. Most everyone likes to deal at Hays Motors.

Deaths, Funerals

Former City Man Claimed

James Payton, 71, Is Heart Attack Victim

James Payton, 71, of Youngstown, former East Liverpool resident, died suddenly Friday at 8:30 a. m. of a heart attack.

Born in England, July 6, 1879, a son of James and Mary Stevens Payton, he spent most of his life in East Liverpool and Alliance, moving to Youngstown four years ago.

He was employed as a foreman at the Potters Supply Co for 30 years before moving to Alliance. He attended the First Christian Church.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Margaret Broadbent Payton, whom he married in East Liverpool in 1910, he is survived by four daughters, Mrs. C. H. Harmon and Mrs. Dorothy Douthitt of Akron, Miss Louise Payton of Alliance, and Mrs. Eleanor Durham of Youngstown; a son, James M Payton of Youngstown; four sisters, Mrs. Annie Emmons of New Brighton, Mrs. Cyrus Deems of Mineral Wells, W. Va, and Mrs. Florence Founds and Mrs. Mary Peake of East Liverpool; two brothers, Arthur Payton and Walter Payton of East Liverpool, and seven grandchildren.

Friends may call Saturday night at the Stewart-Kyle Funeral Home in Hubbard, and Sunday afternoon and night at the Woods Funeral Home in Atwater.

Services will be held at the Woods Funeral Home Monday at 1:30 p. m. Burial will be in Atwater Cemetery.

Harvey E. Custer

Memorial services are planned Sunday afternoon at Port Columbus Air Force base for Harvey E. Custer of Columbus, former East Liverpool resident who was killed with three other Naval Reservists July 12 when their plane crashed into the Gulf of Mexico, near Corpus Christi, Tex.

Parents of the 28-year-old student at Ohio State University, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Custer, resided in Pleasant Heights for 20 years before moving to Columbus several years ago.

The Navy abandoned search for the plane Thursday after a hunt which lasted more than a month.

Raymond Laughlin

Raymond Russell Laughlin, 67, of Beaver Falls, died at 1:55 a. m. today in City Hospital after a four-day illness.

Born at Fairview, near Midland, he attended the Episcopal Church at Beaver Falls and was caretaker of the Home for the Aged there.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ludia Cochran Laughlin, two sons, David R. Laughlin of Fairview, and James W. Laughlin of East Liverpool; four daughters, Mrs. Margaret Heckathorne of Salem, Mrs. Ethel Paulovich of Midland, and Mrs. Helen Obney and Mrs. Edna Hashman of East Liverpool, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Belaney of East Liverpool, and Mrs. H. F. Graham of Colton, Calif.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Martin Funeral Home by Rev. Edward A. Pedrette, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church at Huntingdon, Pa., who is supplying for the month of August at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church here. Burial will be at New Salem Cemetery, near Fairview.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and night.

Frank Hurst

Frank Hurst, 46, of 724 Beaver Ave., Midland, died of a heart attack Friday at 12:42 p. m. as he was eating his lunch at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

He was employed in the Transportation Department for two years.

The body was removed to the Dennis Funeral Home pending the arrivals of relatives from Parkersburg, W. Va., his former home.

William McKinnon

William McKinnon, former local resident, died this morning at the County Home near Lisbon. He was 85 and had been at the home 24 years.

He was born in Ireland, Feb. 27, 1865. No survivors are known.

The body was removed to the Henry Funeral Home pending arrangements.

Mrs. Mary Heim

LISBON, Aug. 19 (Special) — Mrs. Mary Heim, widow of Adolph Heim, 221 Pritchard Ave., died at 9:15 p. m. Friday in Salem City Hospital where she was admitted earlier in the day after a week's illness. She was 76.

Born in Kassel, Germany, May 31, 1874, a daughter of Adam and Mary Fisher Bott, she came to the United States 55 years ago and lived here the past 54 years. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Ladies' Bible Class.

Her husband died in 1946 and a son, Charles Heim, was drowned in Guilford Lake in 1937.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Ethel Heim at home; two sons, Edward A. Heim and Herbert W. Heim, both of Lisbon; three brothers, William Bott of New Waterford, Adam Bott of East Palestine, and Fred Bott of Lisbon, and one grandchild.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the family home by Rev. Paul T. Gerard. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Sunday afternoon and night.

Ohio Eleven Defeats W.Va. All-Star Team

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 19 (AP)—A team of eastern Ohio All-Stars outplayed a northern West Virginia team and took advantage of its fumbles to win Friday night, 14-0

The eighth Ohio Valley All-Stars drew a crowd of about 9,500, but large numbers left as a heavy rain marred the second half

West Virginia fumbles led to both Ohio scores, but the Ohioans outgained the West Virginians 183 yards to 104, and completed the only successful forward pass of the game as part of their second scoring drive. Ohio counted 11 first downs to five for West Virginia.

Sewer Funds Up To Council

Note Issuance To Be Considered Monday

City Council will consider legislation Monday night clearing the way for construction of a $34,523 trunk line sewer to serve most of the unsewered Pleasant Heights-Fisher Park area.

Members will consider legislation authorizing a note issue to pay for the work, anticipating a bond issue later that will retire the notes. They also will vote on legislation authorizing Safety-Service Director Lawrence S. Bloor to advertise for contractors' bids on the project.

Construction of the trunk line, linking the area with the Carpenters Run sanitary trunk, will be a general obligation of the city. However, property-holders will have to pay for the smaller lines in their individual streets and the lines to link homes with the sewer.

The project has been studied for several years and negotiations for right-of-way—started in 1949—were not completed until a few weeks ago. At present, much of the hilltop area depends on cesspools for sanitation service.

Council also will act on a revised ordinance raising the fee for a city building permit from $1 to $5 and requiring inspection by the Engineer's Office before the application can be approved.

4-Way Crash Hurts But One

2 Local Men Escape Injuries In Wrecks

Albert D. Clark, 46, of 527 Washington St., and William Wymer, 25, of East Liverpool, escaped injury Friday night in two separate accidents on Route 45. A Salem man and woman were injured, neither seriously.

Mr. Clark was in a four-vehicle collision at 8:30 two miles south of Salem as he drove toward East Liverpool.

The State Highway Patrol said his car was sideswiped by one driven north by William Beech, 22, of Salem. The Beech car went out of control after sideswiping a northbound auto driven by John Scherach, 61, of Lorain, and a truck operated by Charles Eckert, 35, of Washington, Pa., the patrol said.

Mr. Beech's car rolled over into the ditch, followed by the truck which barely missed landing on top of it, the patrol said.

Mr. Beech, the only one hurt, was treated at Salem City Hospital for abrasions of the face and a lacerated scalp.

Although Mr. Wymer escaped unhurt in the second accident, his passenger, Ora Reynolds, 89, of Salem received lacerations of the arm, face and hands.

The patrol said their car and one operated by Luther Elwonger, 28, of Steubenville collided three-tenths of a mile north of Wellsville at 8:15. Both were traveling south.

Wellsville Girl Places Second In Grange Contest

Miss Barbara Zoellers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Zoellers of Wellsville R. D. 1, won second place in the State Grange highway essay contest, State Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter announced today at Columbus.

For her prize-winning entry entitled, "Youth's Responsibility in Highway Safety," she will receive a $10 check Miss Zoellers, a member of Yellow Creek Grange, earlier won the contest sponsored by her own grange She will be a senior this fall at Wellsville High School.

First prize and a trip to the Ohio Grange convention in December in Toledo—plus a cash award—went to Maxine Winifred Shelly of Wooster R. D. 2, and third prize to Phyllis Ann Mayes of Continental R. D.

Warning To Public

League Says TB Cases Left Hospital Too Soon

The Columbiana County Health League has sent out a letter revealing that 13 tuberculosis patients from this county recently left hospitals without approval of their doctors

The letter calls attention to the danger of infection of others, and pleads with the public to help keep TB patients under treatment until cured

Full text of the letter follows

"If you believe in the power of statistics, here are some figures that tell an alarming story about everyone's health protection

'No less than 13 patients from our county during the past six months got up from a tuberculosis hospital bed and went home AGAINST MEDICAL ADVICE They left the sanatorium and returned to their respective communities, maybe next door or down the street from you, while still harboring tuberculosis in an active spreading form

They didn't give their cure a chance' One took leave of the sanatorium after only TWO WEEKS, two after two months, one after three months and one after four months Tuberculosis isn't cured in a matter of days or in some cases even a few months It requires patience and courage from a patient. Above all, it requires isolation, for the sake of their family and associates.

"How many of us will be in danger of infection through contact with these sources is unknown. These 13 patients ignored known medical facts to return home for their convenience . . . but at our risk.

Figures such as these point up the enormity of the fight that must be waged by our association, community groups, friends, and relatives to convince patients of the necessity for accepting medical advice . . . until cured of tuberculosis.

'More comforting is the fact that during the same six months, 12 patients were discharged with medical advice This number needs to be greatly increased Yes, tuberculosis is still a major health problem It will remain a problem until every case known or unknown is diagnosed, isolated treated, and returned to society as a well person Let's remember the slogan No home is safe until every home is safe'.

Ohio Labor Hits Taft With New Comic Book

COLUMBUS, Aug 19 (AP)—The United Labor League of Ohio today issued a 16-page comic book describing Ohio's rival candidate for U S senator Robert A Taft, Republican, and Joseph T Ferguson, Democrat.

The book praises Mr Ferguson and attacks Mr Taft It is titled The Robert Alphonso Taft Story

A joint statement by Jack Kroll, Ohio C I O council president, and Phil Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Federation of Labor, said

If Mr Taft objects to this booklet, as he may well do he will have to object to his own record—because all we are doing is making that record public

The league is composed of the C I O Political Action Committee the Ohio State Federation Political Education League, District 6 of the United Mine Workers, the Machinists Nonpartisan Political League and the Railroad Brotherhoods.

New Navy Rocket Built And Shipped In 22 Days

WASHINGTON, Aug 19 (AP)—The Navy says its new 6½-inch aerial rocket, which carries a 'shaped charge" designed to penetrate heavy armor, was developed and shipped to Korea in 22 days

A Navy spokesman told reporters yesterday that Admiral Forrest P Sherman, chief of naval operations, directed the Navy's Ordance Bureau on July 6 to develop the rocket as quickly as possible

On July 29, the naval ordnance test station at Inyokern, Calif, shipped the first batch to the western Pacific.

35 District Veterans Register For Reunion

Officials of the 332nd Infantry Association said 35 veterans of East Liverpool and vicinity have made reservations to attend the 29th annual reunion Sept. 2-3 in Canton.

The association is composed of former members of the 332nd Infantry, 331st Field Hospital, American ambulance unit and the Base Hospital Unit 102—the only troops from the United States who served in Italy in World War I.

Joseph H. Leahy is chairman, and Ed A. Schauer is financial secretary. Reunion headquarters will be in the Onesto Hotel.

Missing Heirs Found After 2-Year Hunt

Old Tintype Provides Clue In Cleveland Estate Of $250,000

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19 (AP)—Attorney John J. Fuerst today announced he has found the missing heirs of Mrs. Mae G. Haas, who for half a century refused to tell any one who she was or where she came from.

Mr. Fuerst is administrator of her $250,000 estate. He said Mrs. Haas had not told even her husband, Christian, who died in 1943 after making his money in the fruit and vegetable commission business here.

She presumably came here, he said, in 1898 and met Mr. Haas at a boarding house. When she died in 1948 the only clues the attorney could find were two tintypes and a photograph wrapped in asbestos and hidden in her kitchen stove. There was no will.

One of the tintypes bore the imprint of a Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) firm. A search in that area turned up Mrs. James Underwood of Binghamton, N. Y., who recognized the girl in the pictures as being Mary Glynn.

Requests for information were sent to two dozen New York state newspapers. One was printed July 20 in the Walden Citizen-Herald. One reader was Mrs. Julia Gabriel, 73, of Wallkill, N. Y.

She sent the information to her friends, Miss Katherine Glynn, 74, and Mrs. Anna G. Rommer, 62, of Middletown, N. Y., and asked if Mary was their sister.

Before investigators, the sisters produced an old family album and found a duplicate of one of the tintypes.

They told Mr. Fuerst their father had been strict with Mary and that the beautiful young girl had wanted to leave their farm near Ireland's Corners.

Later she went to live with an aunt and uncle in a community several miles away and members of her family never saw her again, the sisters said.

Shortly before the time she presumably came to Cleveland she stopped writing.

A declaratory judgment has been pending in Probate Court here for two years to determine her heirs. Mr. Fuerst said he will recommend that the court accept the two New York women as Mrs. Haas' sisters.

"The roughest kind of an estimate" would be that the relatives of Mrs. Haas will get between $50,000 and $60,000 and that the two Ne wYork women will get around $100,000 if they are accepted as her sisters, Mr. Fuerst said.

Flack Nominated As Envoy To Poland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—President Truman yesterday nominated Joseph Flack to be ambassador to Poland.

Mr. Flack, 55, and a career diplomat, is now ambassador to Costa Rica.

In Poland, he would replace John W. Gallman, who has resigned to become deputy for foreign affairs in the National War College at Washington.

Mr. Flack is a native of Grenoble, Pa.

Chester Paratroopers End Training

MEMBERS of Company C, 398th Parachute Infantry Regiment, 100th Airborne Division, of Chester are scheduled to return home Sunday after concluding two weeks of training at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

In the picture above, three Chester paratroopers are shown unpacking ammunition on the rifle range where they received small arms training.

Left to right, they are Sergeant Earl C. Ray, 31 California Ave., and Private Eugene J. Cheuvront and Sergeant John J. Welch of R. D. 1.

Climax of the training period was reached Friday when all the qualified parachutists in the division made a jump, needed to retain their "jumper" status for the coming year.

The accent last week was on the firing of small arms and machine-guns while tactical field problems and bivouacs took the attention of the reservists.

The unit trained alongside the Regular Army's 11th Airborne Division.

More WAC Reservists Called For By Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Army has broadened its call for volunteers from the ranks of enlisted women reserves who are not in organized reserve units.

A previous call for WAC enlisted reservists was limited to those with special skills. The new appeal applies to all enlisted WAC reservists not in organized units, regardless of their military occupational specialities.

The Army said volunteers should apply to the organized reserve corps instructor in the military district where they live.
